In Memoriam

Brian Innes died of a heart attack at the age of 57.

In addition to being an avid politician and Avonton-area farmer, Brian served on the Quadro Board of Directors from 2000 to 2003. During his tenure, Brian advocated the expansion of local calling areas while Quadro initiated Wireless Internet service in Lucan and expanded DSL High Speed to those customers served from remote facilities.

His enthusiasm and devotion towards work, family, and the community will certainly be missed.

Dear Quadro Communications

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for sponsoring me for the CYL Camp. CYL camp is a Cooperative Young Leaders Camp that teaches you, leadership skills, Co-op principles and what Co-ops are all about. This is one life changing week!

When I first arrived at the camp the Facilitators gave me a warm welcome and really made me feel at home. The Facilitators also explained to us that the first day was really about meeting new people and stepping outside our personal boundaries.

A typical day at CYL camp would consist of breakfast, lunch, dinner, "which I must say the meals were awesome," but they would also have various learning activities, and sessions. The sessions were very interactive, so you are not sitting there bored. Instead of reading about different Co-op's we actually got the opportunity to create our own Co-op. Our Co-op was called Candy Land. We had 5 board of directors and members on our team. This was a lot of fun and it really gave us a lot of insight on how a Co-op works and how much work is involved. We also had the opportunity to have some guests speakers come in from other Co-ops such as Libro, Gay Lea, and DAM to talk about teen issues.

After our Session time we would normally do a sport or social activity. Instead of the Facilitators picking the activity we would decide on the social or sports activity and also the rules and regulations. This was to teach us leadership skills and responsibilities by working together. I must say my favourite activity was reverse paintball. It is when you put paint all over your skin and fill up your water gun and try to spray paint off of everyone else. These fun activities really let you get to know everyone, make life lasting memories and friendships.

Finally, at the end of the day we would have a talking stick. Talking stick is when you sit in a circle and everyone listens while you talk about your day, what you liked, what you didn't like, and how you are feeling. A great way to reflect on a tremendous day!

CYL is a home away from home. You connect with many different people from across Ontario and you learn a lot about yourself. I was also very fortunate to be voted Youth Representative for my week at camp. CYL has changed my life for the better and I am positive it has for many other people too. Thanks again Quadro for letting me experience the CYL magic.

Camper Notes

Dear Quadro

I would like to say thank you so much for sponsoring me. Once again you gave me the wonderful opportunity to attend CYL. It was my second year going and I was sure there was nothing that could beat the amazing week I had last year, but it was even better! I thought I knew what to expect but the experiences I had and friends I made were beyond expectations. I was able to expand my knowledge of co-operatives and improve my leadership skills.

The facilitators were so much fun to be with and full of information. They let us "self-facilitate" ourselves for many activities; this made it interesting because it was often a surprise for everyone! Once again, this year we played my most favourite CYL game, Reverse Paintball (everyone covers themselves with finger paint and then squirt each other with water guns)! We had speakers from Mountain Equipment Co-operative, On Co-op and we got to enjoy yoga, as well. There was a lot of hands on learning, such as skits and games, which helped us better understand co-operatives. I knew a few people from my week last year and got to make many more lifelong friends from all over Ontario!

Thank you so much for sponsoring me again this year! I was proud to be representing Quadro once again. CYL brings out the best in people and I was so glad to be experiencing the magic again. I have gained new perspectives and many great friends because of you. I am so grateful and I hope to be able to go back again next year. Thank you!
